OMRON PRODUCT TRANSITION/DISCONTINUATION NOTICE

Discontinuation – Microscan MicroHAWK ID-30, ID-40, ID-45, MV-30, MV-40

All Microscan MicroHAWK (Red) ID-30, ID-40, ID-45 AutoID Readers, and MV-30, MV-40 Smart Cameras were transitioned to Omron MicroHAWK (Black) equivalents through the Janus program in 2019. Supply chains, manufacturing, and delivery mechanisms for the new models have been tested, improved and verified during 2020.

Omron is confident that the transition to the new line, which offers superior quality, performance and pricing, is now complete. Thus, this announcement serves as the official discontinuation notice for the MicroHAWK ID-30, ID-40, ID-45, MV-30, MV-40 model types, with a last time order date of 12/31/2021. Please note that this discontinuation notice does not include the ID-20 or MV-20 model types. They will continue as is.

We ask that you inform the field of the 1 year transition period starting Jan 1, 2020 as soon as possible and urge them to make the transition early. We also ask that you proactively reach out to the OEMs and Large customers who have “Custom” versions of the red models, so that we can schedule any OCR Engineering involvement that will be necessary for them to transition to the V/F4xx or V/F3xx series models.

The following is the Phaseout Timeline for the Microscan Red MicroHAWK cameras:

- Last time order: December 31, 2021
- Last time shipment: March 31, 2022
- End of service: March 31, 2027

The table below shows the Microscan Model Types that are going End of Life along with the direct Omron replacement model types. The second table shows the entire Omron MicroHAWK product family available moving forward. A tool for determining the exact replacement model part number has been attached to this notice.
